@Y!DD!SHFEM!N!ST

In the morning, before I open my eyes,
I breath

BRING THEM HOME.

My day moves along, and I find myself thinking

BRING THEM HOME.

I look at the faces around me,
I see them in all the sad smiles

And i cry

BRING THEM HOME.

I play with my children,

And I pray

BRING THEM HOME.

I spend time with my sister and my friends,

And I hope

BRING THEM HOME.

I hug my husband,

and I wish

BRING THEM HOME.

When evening comes,

When another day has passed with them
so far from us,

I whisper in my heart

BRING THEM HOME.

And at night

When the world is filled with new possibilities,

I dream

BRING THEM HOME.

Please,

BRING THEM HOME
